OHIO RIVER IS RISING

Water Breaks Through the Levee at Cairo, Flooding the Entire District—Thought to Be Safe.

The main levees on the Ohio river at Cairo and Shawneetown, Illinois, were holding today with the exception of a few small breaks, but with the water rising the situation appeared to be serious. At Cairo the river has passed the 53-foot mark and every inch of water puts a heavy strain on the over-burdened levees which are liable to break at any moment from the additional pressure. All persons have been warned to leave the lowlands and there is little probability of loss of life should a break occur, but the property damage would be heavy. Hundreds of men worked all night placing sacks of sand on the levee to prevent the water from washing over the top. Great confusion prevailed among the refugees, but the troops on hand prevented any disorder. A break occurred in the levee last night at Columbus, Ky., a town of 1,200 people on the Mississippi river, a few miles below Cairo. The water spread over the town to a depth of one to five feet. A number of persons were marooned in the upper stories of their dwellings, but the majority fled to the hills back of the river. On the upper Ohio river the situation was expected to improve today when the crest of the flood passes. At Cincinnati, April 1.—The Ohio river here rose two-tenths of a foot during the night. Early today the stage was 59.8 feet. Weather forecaster Devereaux said he expected the river to rise another tenth after which it would probably recede. The fall, he said, would be slow at first because of the large amount of water above. Up-river points reported the river either stationary or falling slowly. River Rises. Cairo, Ill., April 1.—Flood waters continued to rise steadily throughout last night. At 7 a. m. the gauge stood between 53.2 and 53.3. The population was early astir and the fact that the water had substantially passed the 52-inch mark caused considerable anxiety. All expected that the day would at the big Illinois Central bridge which is in the edge of this district. Consequently the greatest hope as placed in boats in case of great trouble. About one-half the population has left the city already. The fugitives were chiefly women and children and it is believed that should an avalanche of water sweep over the city now it would result in little loss of life, the number of river steamers being considered sufficient. Placing Sand Bags. Dozens of carloads of sand bags were placed about the weak spots and serious trouble was averted. Water swept through under the concrete wall and stood in the main street of Cairo today, but the levee showed no signs of weakening. A big force of men worked all night placing sand bags and other hold backs along the city front. Col. Daniel Moriarty, in charge of troops, planned to attend the meeting of citizens today to devise means of proceeding. It was expected the mayor and sheriff would give him complete control of the situation and that in this way all idle men might be put to work if necessary by force. Word was received from Major General Wood at Cincinnati by the general relief committee that the situation would be handled the same as last year. The sheriff has requested Governor Dunne to appeal to the war department to move three large boats from the Mississippi around in front of Cairo to be used in emergency. Refugees continued to leave the city all night and crowds are still waiting at depots to get out. Flood Experiences. Dayton, Ohio, April 1.—With the rapid subsiding of the flood waters and dissipating of panic among refugees here some thrilling adventures continue to come to light. Among the most interesting of these was the experience of the family of Charles M. Adams in Riverdale. When the flood raft. The lad was a member of the Riverdale troops of the boy scouts and had been trained how to administer first aid to the drowning. Used Shovel. John Stone was one of the large number of volunteer life savers at Riverdale. He rescued a woman from the second story of a house in Linwood street who insisted in bringing with her a snow shovel. Clutching the shovel to her breast she sat in the stern of Stone's boat alternately singing a hymn and laughing hysterically. In attempting to round a corner where a torrent poured in from across the street the boat struck an electric light pole and Stone lost the paddle with which he was propelling his craft. "God told me," shouted the woman a Mrs. Clemens. "He told me. Now use the shovel." Stone managed to paddle his boat with the shovel to a place of safety. Rescuers found a Mrs. Atherton standing in water waist deep in the second story of her home in East Riverdale. An hour before the rescuers arrived the woman had given birth to a son which she was clutching in her arms. The babe was dead. Mrs. Atherton is expected to live. Coming out of the front door of his residence on South Main street Charles McComber saw the flood coming. He rushed back to his garage and brought his motor car around in front, calling his wife and three children he began loading the car with chairs and rugs from the parlor. Moved Piano. He moved the piano onto the front porch on top of a number of chairs piled a davenport, which ordinarily two men would scarcely be able to handle. Then McComber lifted his wife and children into the automobile, but just as he was starting away the car was overwhelmed and had to be deserted. Refuge was taken by the family in a passing boat which had started out from a laundry, not far away. "It was apathy," said McComber, in relating his experience. I do not remember anything about it but here stands the loaded motor car ruined of course and there is the piano where I brought it. Cut Levee. Cairo, Ill., April 1.—The Ohio river levee was ordered cut at Shawneetown this afternoon to save life and property in the country farther down the river from the flood. Flood conditions appear incredible to the oldest citizens. They say it looks the most desperate in their time. The water rising at the rate of about one foot a day and now stands two feet and eight inches from the top of the concrete wall built at the levee. Reports of up river conditions were enough to cause alarm. No report came of receding water as far away as Cincinnati, and some tributaries were reported rising. The rise of the river is much faster than last year. Abandoned Hope. Springfield, Ill., April 1.—Adjutant General Dickinson today received a telephone message from Cairo that the waters were flowing over the top of the "Big Four" Railway Company's embankment at Cairo known as the drainage district levee and that the company abandoned hope of preventing the flooding of the district. Need Food. Dayton, April 1.—The food supply in Dayton has been over-estimated according to reports received today from relief stations scattered over the city. John H. Patterson, president of the relief committee, wired Secretary of War Garrison today that the committee would look to the national government for supplies. It is estimated that between 30,000 and 40,000 refugees are being fed daily. Provisions must be received in the stricken city before tomorrow or suffering will follow. Cash in great demand. Checks for large sums are in the hands of the relief committee, but they are practically worthless because it is not money available. Three bodies were recovered today bringing the toll of the flood up to 123.

SOUTH MAIN STREET, DAYTON, WHERE RESCUE WORK WAS HARD

The state troops were sent out in squads of five today, each squad accompanied by a policeman, to visit the rendezvous of men who are either unwilling or have refused to work. All places of business which do not handle goods needed for the comfort and necessities of the people have been closed in order to give opportunity to get out the strongest working force possible. Employees of clothing concerns have responded willingly for duty and have reinforced to a great extent the work along the river front. Rev. M. H. Just before he was rescued he saw

Cairo, Ill., April 1.—Flood waters continued to rise steadily throughout last night. At 7 a. m. the gauge stood between 53.2 and 53.3. The population was early astir and the fact that the water had substantially passed the 52-inch mark caused considerable anxiety. All expected that the day would

SLATE LA FOLLETTE FOR FINE POSITION

Senator's Brother, Prominent Wisconsin Democrat, May Get $4,000 Job at Washington, D. C.

Washington, April 1.—Although the White House declined either to deny or affirm the report, it was declared today that President Wilson virtually had decided to appoint William L. La Follette of Wisconsin, a brother of Senator La Follette, to the position of register of wills of the district of Columbia. The place commands a salary of $4,000 a year. Mr. La Follette has been a life-long democrat and devoted the Wisconsin campaign for President Wilson. He is ten years older than his progressive republican brother.

TARIFF ARGUMENTS HEARD BY WILSON

Washington, April 1.—Attention of President Wilson's administration is centered upon the tariff and tonight Representative Underwood, democratic majority leader, will have a second conference with the president on the new bill. Mr. Wilson has had the measure before him a week, has studied it carefully and heard some protests, principally against putting sugar on the free list. So far as can be learned the president's mind is still open both on the sugar question and whether the tariff should be revised by schedule or in a single bill. Recognition of China was discussed at length at today's cabinet meeting but no decision was reached. It is very probable that the United States will recognize China as a republic when the constituent assembly meets on April 8th.

SWEAT SHOP GIRLS TELL SAD STORIES AT VICE HEARING

Marriage, Death or Immoral Life Only Alternatives of Women Employed in Shops Say Witnesses.

Chicago, April 1.—Marriage, death or immoral life are the only avenues of escape for girls from the toil of the sweat shop, according to testimony of witnesses for the Illinois vice commission today. Lieut. Governor Garrett O'Hara, chairman of the committee devoted much time to examining girls and women witnesses from the west side sweat shop districts where wages range from $2.50 to $3 a week. As a result of the story of hardships told by the witnesses Lieut. Governor O'Hara agreed with Senator Junt to give $1 each to the sweat shop witnesses, because it was believed the witnesses would be "doctored" by their employers for the time spent before the commission. The moral obligation of employers to make certain that all the employees are properly clothed and adequately nourished was emphasized throughout today's session of the commission. Sergeant-at-Arms T. B. Scouten and H. Blair Coan, investigator for the commission, today seized the books of Rosenwald and Weil clothing manufacturers, who failed to respond to subpoenas to appear before the commission. Walter J. Rubens, manufacturer of underwear, was the first witness examined by the state vice commission at the hearing resumed today. Rubens was questioned at length by Lieut. Governor O'Hara in an effort to obtain information regarding the effect of a state minimum wage law for women and girls. The witness said he favored a rational minimum wage law and insisted that a state would work a great hardship upon manufacturers in individual states until all states had adopted similar legislation.

J. PIERPONT MORGAN LEAVES VAST ESTATE

Property Valued at $75,000,000 to $300,000,000 Constitutes Financial Fortune.

New York, April 1.—Estimates today of the fortune left by J. P. Morgan range from seventy-five million to three hundred million. This sum included his art collections. It is understood that the financiers' will is of comparatively recent date, but no intimation has been made as to when it would be given to the public. Mr. Morgan's personal counsel declines to discuss the matter. Those who shared Mr. Morgan's close friendship predict that there will be large charitable and public bequests, although it is conceded that the son, J. P. Morgan, will doubtless receive the bulk of the fortune. Mr. Morgan's realty holdings were comparatively small. By far the greater part of the estate, it is understood, will be found to be made up of gilt-edge securities. Judging by his former quiet philanthropy those who speculated today as to possible bequests thought that the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Episcopal church and perhaps Yale and Harvard universities would come in for handsome benefactions.

FOREIGN RULERS EXPRESS SYMPATHY

President Wilson Receives Cablegram From King George of England In Regard to Flood Conditions.

Washington, April 1.—Messages continued to come to President Wilson today from foreign rulers expressing sympathy for sufferers in the western floods. King George of England cabled: "I am greatly distressed at the news of the disastrous flood and the grievous loss of life caused by them. I desire to express to your Excellency my deepest sympathy with yourself and the president of the United States in your misfortune." The president replied: "Allow me in the name of the people of the government of the United States to express deep appreciation of your majesty's kind message of condolence." King Emanuel of Italy and the Sultan of Persia also sent messages.

PREPARE TO SUBDU ZAPATA FOLLOWERS

Mexican Government Faces Dangerous Situation With Rebels Menacing In North and South.

Mexico City, Mex., April 1.—The breaking off of all negotiations for peace with Zapata has forced the government to mobilize a strong force for a campaign against the southern rebel. This has been despite the fact that rebel successes in the north have made imperative the dispatch of a large part of the regular army to that region. The war department says that government troops will begin moving today to those districts occupied by Zapata's followers. This concentration will continue until an army of 10,000 men has been gathered. General Pascual Orozco, Jr., and many of his old chiefs will participate in the southern campaign. Dispatches today from Cuapala said Pascual Orozco Sr. has not been killed but is kept closely guarded at Huautla. The followers of Zapata have circulated numerous manifestos repudiating Huerta and Felix Diaz and calling on the people to support the Zapata movement.

PLAN TO ARBITRATE LA CROSSE STRIKE

Brewery Employees Agree to Arbitrate Difference With Employers—Chicago Decorators' Strike.

La Crosse, April 1.—A strike of the employees in five La Crosse breweries was temporarily averted today when the conflicting interests agreed to submit their difference to arbitration. The men asked for an increase averaging $2 a week, while the employers who granted everything the men asked at the end of a strike two years ago, are opposing any increase whatever. Three hundred union employees are directly affected and 1,500 persons indirectly in addition to the persons employed in co-operation and other industries dependent on the breweries and which would be affected by a prolonged tie-up. Decorators on Strike. Chicago, April 1.—Five thousand union painters, paper hangers and decorators went on strike here today and as a result the annual decorating of thousands of business buildings and homes will be indefinitely delayed. Among other things the men demand an increase of five cents an hour in pay.

SEVERAL SURPRISES AT IOWA ELECTIONS

St. Paul Switchman Is Chosen Mayor of Ottumwa—Prohibitionist Defeated at Perry.

Des Moines, Ia., April 1.—Municipal elections throughout Iowa yesterday developed many surprises. Ottumwa, a town of 40,000, elected Patrick Leney, a switchman of the C. M. & St. Paul railroad as mayor. At Perry, St. Clair Jones, candidate for governor on the prohibition ticket last fall was defeated by an overwhelming vote for mayor. Washington and Jefferson, towns of 10,000, decided not to have pool and billiard halls, this question being at issue.

HALL & HUEBEL

LOST $50

Yesterday, a lady came to my store and bought a piano, although she had bought one from another dealer a few days ago and paid $50 on it, but she found that she could save over a hundred dollars by purchasing a high class piano at my closing out sale, and that enabled her to stand the loss of $50 without feeling it. She is still the gainer.

If you find that you have been "stung" in a piano deal, come in and talk it over with me.

This is not a fake "factory" sale but a sacrifice sale of high class pianos, some of them being makes that have been on the market more than half a century. It's an easy matter to make a "bargain sale" of cheap pianos but this is probably the first time in the history of the piano trade that well known high class pianos have been offered at bargain prices.

If you don't know the reputation of these pianos, you don't know anything about pianos. Look at the famous names, Bauer, Kimball, Schiller, Price & Teple, Werner, etc.

The time is short, get busy as I am positively going out of business.

Port Shop Shots by Doc McCarty

Terry Turner, veteran third baseman of the Cleveland Naps, who last season led the American League in fielding, entering his tenth season with the Naps in more promising style than in the past five years. He is showing all the ability in fielding he ever had, while his throwing arm, which has handicapped him for some years, seems to be in excellent shape and ready to whip 'em across the diamond at a speed great enough to flag the fastest runner. Terry himself is enthusiastic over his renewed ability and has become one of the greatest cut-outs on the team, a reputation new to a man formerly considered one of the quietest in baseball.

Peter Thompson, 2:07 1/2, the world's champion trotting gelding, will be raced this season after a year's retirement. He was the sensation of 1911, winning five races out of six starts and never landed outside of the money. He has now matured and is said to be in great condition for a hard campaign.

Hans Wagner is the only veteran left actively in the service of the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Flying Dutchman seems to be handling his shortstop job as brilliantly as ever. In spite of his 39 years, despite his presence the Pirates form the youngest team in the league. He has represented the Smoky City in 10 years. Tommy Leach was the last of the old-timers to go. He was traded to the Chicago Cubs last summer.

SCHEDULED TO MEET INDIANA CHAMPIONS

Janesville Basketball Five Now Entered at Evanston Meet and Matched With Marion, Ind., Team.

The Janesville high school championship basketball team were notified by telegram last night of their entry to the basketball tournament at Evanston the last three days of this week. All arrangements are being made to send the team there, and funds are still being raised. According to the Chicago Record Herald this morning, the locals are pitted against the Marion, Indiana, high school team, the game to be played on Thursday. This game is the first one of the tournament. The Marion team is not known to the locals, but a good chance of defeating them is seen, because they were not heard of in the Indiana state tournament some weeks ago. The city is making all plans to send the team, and it is thought they will go. Dr. Buckmaster, president of the school board, still wants the team to go and to at least try to defeat some of these fine teams from this section of the country.

FAVORABLE REPORT ON BOXING MEASURE

Assembly Judiciary Committee Will Recommend Establishing of a State Boxing Commission.

Madison, Wis., April 1.—It is said to be practically certain that the fledgling boxing bill will be favorably reported to the assembly by the judiciary committee this week. It provides for a state commission of three members, with a secretary, to supervise boxing bouts. It is even predicted by those who have canvassed the situation that the bill will be reported without any opposition. Rev. A. E. Frederick, of the judiciary committee, is said to look quite favorably upon it, and a number of others on the committee believe it is so drawn that it will prevent prize-fighting in the state. The bill will have bitter opposition on the floor, however, by assemblymen who object to any state participation in such affairs and who claim it is a plan to legalize prize-fighting.

ATHLETES AND DEBATERS WILL BE GIVEN BANQUET

On Thursday night of this week, the champion debaters, champion basketball and champion football teams will be given a reception by the A. E. club of this city in the Christ church. This club, known as the Athletic Enthusiasts, composes many high school girls, and they have planned a hearty welcome to the championship teams of the local high school. Only those members of the three teams who received the official "J" will be invited. About nineteen will be present.

GOLFERS READY FOR THE COMING SEASON; TOURNAMENT GOSSIP

Ambitious Players Negotiate Nine Holes at Local Course on Sunday Last.

Officially the golf season is open, if the course is a bit soggy as yet, the ground not settled for good fast playing, still the opening games have been played and golf has begun. The club this year promises many innovations including the services of a professional and a prosperous season is expected. Already talk is rife of the coming state tournament at Kenosha and Janesville's possibilities in the contest.

Walter J. Cavanagh, Secretary of the Wisconsin State Golf Association has sent out the first call for the coming state tournament to be held on the links of the Kenosha Country club in August and the plans for the tournament will be perfected early in the season. In his first communication to the various clubs in the state, Secretary Cavanagh announces the appointment of an executive committee composed of W. L. Yule of Kenosha, A. J. Lunt of Racine, and Louis Allis of Milwaukee. This committee has been named by President "Joe" Hixon of La Crosse as a managing committee for the big Kenosha tourney. At the close of the last tournament at Blue Mound, "Big Bill" Yule, who has been the moving spirit at tournaments for the past eight years, declared that he was going to retire but with the first call of the spring Yule, who was formerly president of the State association sent a letter from Los Angeles declaring that his health was better and that he was ready to aid in boosting the Kenosha tournament.

President Hixon at once named him as head of the executive committee of the state organization.

"Kenosha is going to get herself one better in entertaining the state golfers this year," said Secretary Cavanagh today. "We don't want to hand out any of the old dope about the most successful tournament in the history of the organization, but we do want to say that Kenosha will show the state golfers every hospitality that is known to golfers. In the first place we are going to give the men who want to win state championships the finest greens ever seen in the state. With this end in view the club has purchased a power-mower and roller and it is now in Kenosha ready to be put to work on the greens just as soon as the grass is ready for cutting. This equipment will add a lot in bringing the greens to perfection. Of course it is a little early to talk about the program for the tournament but the members of the executive committee are now figuring out some new features which will make it different from any tournament ever held in Wisconsin. The tournament is not only going to be a tournament for championship play but for rare good fellowship and there will be plenty of inducements for "just plain dubs" to come to Kenosha for the big week in August. The prize list will not be announced until after the meeting of the board of Directors to be held in June. At this time there will be a one-day tournament for the directors that will be some tournament.

There will be one club missing from the association this year. The grounds of the Green Bay club have been closed up but at that the name of Green Bay will not be dropped from the official roster of the club and "Judge" H. O. Fairchild, who has been active in the affairs of the state organization since its organization, will not be dropped from the membership in the Board of Directors. The state association is hopeful that Green Bay will soon be able to get new links and continue as active member in the association.

The officers to have charge of the work of the association this year are announced as follows: President, J. M. Hixon, La Crosse; vice-president, H. D. Plimpton, Blue Mound; secretary and treasurer, W. J. Cavanagh, Kenosha. The list of directors include H. O. Fairchild, Green Bay, A. H. Gruenwald, Oshkosh; F. M. Wooton, Madison; F. H. Graham, Eau Claire; Louis Allis, Milwaukee; H. S. Hadfield, Blue Mound; A. J. Lunt, Racine; W. J. Kohler, Sheboygan; L. A.

Pradt, Wausau; M. A. DeMoss, Green Lake; William Harper, Appleton; C. C. West, Manitowish; C. C. Allen, Kenosha; Al Schaller, Janesville; L. C. Colman, La Crosse, and H. M. Thompson from the new club at Hartland.

Books for the Children.

Care must be taken in the stories we give to growing children that evil is always overcome. Book friends are very real to boys and girls and influence their character. There should be effort and conflict in their stories and daring endurance and steadfast purpose. Stories in which the child hero acts rightly are, particularly valuable, because what a boy or girl has done appeals more directly to the child's own power. He feels though he may not express it even to himself that what other children have done he can do.

OLIVE M. HAYWARD, Notary Public

My commission expires July 12, 1914.

DISTINGUISHED EMIGRANT.

The Wall Street Journal takes the following caustic dig at the Goulds in its editorial column:

"Misfortunes never come singly. Just now, they are, an Shakespearean comedy, coming not single spies, but in battalions. Here is the latest blow, and it has left the country reeling. On his departure for Europe, Frank J. Gould said:

"I am going back to my farm near Paris, where I can raise artichokes without government interference. I may never come back. The government is always making trouble with legitimate business in this country, and I am disgusted with everything."

"This coming on top of hurricanes and floods is almost too much, but the country must pull itself together, and face even this dreadful contingency. It will be noticed that Mr. Gould does not actually promise not to come back. He does not even threaten to take every one of the name with him. He had to speak frankly to us, but it will be recognized that he is really breaking it gently."

"Besides, for some years past the financial center has been trying to run the transportation and other important industries of the United States without Gould assistance. The experience so acquired should enable the country to bear the bereavement, now that the shock of parting is over."

"25,000 OR BUST!"

Here is your slogan! Plan to attend the mass meeting of citizens called for April 15th at the Myers opera house for the purpose of organizing a monster boosting club. Manager Myers has donated the use of the opera house for this purpose, and the Moose band have donated their services, and it is up to the average citizen to furnish the enthusiasm. It is to be a mass meeting of the citizens by the citizens and for the citizens. It means a bigger and better Janesville, so get behind the band and follow in the procession which means Janesville is going to grow.

"Twenty-five Thousand or Bust!" That means every one must help in the great work and forget any petty personal difference. Rise above political bickerings and boost for Janesville, first, last and always; but chief above everything else plan to attend the mass meeting and join the Boosters' club.

MORGAN'S DEATH.

With the death of J. Pierpont Morgan, the world loses one of the greatest financiers of modern days. He was the uncrowned king of the money world and his power was even greater than the government under which he lived. His death will leave a void to fill, but strange to say his "house" was in such good order that his death caused hardly a ripple in the financial circles over which he was such a power. Morgan was a masterful man, a man with a keen mind and a brain filled with knowledge that was invaluable to him and his associates. He was a generous giver, a lover of the fine arts, and his work in behalf of the United States in bringing to this country his wonderful collection of art and sculpture is a monument in itself.

READY RESPONSE.

The ready response that the appeal for funds for the flood sufferers received all over this country demonstrates that the spirit of brotherhood is to be found on every side in this broad land. Janesville has done its share nobly and the dollars sent to alleviate the suffering, aid the starving and homeless, express the spirit of Janesville to the world at large. It is a great charity and while the response has been liberal, more money is needed, and those who have not contributed are urged to do so at once, as now is the time the funds are most needed.

The legislature will continue to grind out legislation that will take the lawyers of the state years to interpret, and meanwhile the cause of progress is heralded far and near as Wisconsin's watchword.

Get behind the band wagon and boost for a bigger and better Janesville. Forget to wield the hammer and talk of the wonderful prospects of your home community.

Governor Dunne of Illinois ordered out of Chicago seven hundred democratic voters right on the eve of election and now the Windy City politicians are most provoked.

Now that April is here, start the spring season in right and clean up the winter's refuse without having to be ordered to do so by the health officer.

Sir Ernest Shackleton is to lead his followers into the antarctic regions. Some people do not seem to be able to keep away from the ice chests.

The old Rock river is a pretty wild sort of a stream but thank fortune it is not as wild as some of those down in Ohio and Indiana.

There is nothing that succeeds like a good bit of optimistic spirit. See the hole in the doughnut, not merely the doughnut itself.

March is through. It did its best to live up to the reputation and showed it was somewhat peeved by criticism.

If you have not voted yet, be sure and do so before the polls close. Do not fail to exercise your right of franchise.

Today is election day and the results will be watched with interest especially as to the selection of county judge.

Venice is a beautiful city by American communities who do not care to emulate its glories all in a single night.

Nobody regrets that the first reports of the loss of life in the recent floods was exaggerated.

Dollar diplomacy is now going to be a drug on the market at twenty cents on the dollar.

The Balkan allies have learned the truth of the old saying that in unity there is strength.

The Scientists.

The scientists inform us that there's danger lurking in the kiss.

They've conjured up a kissing gauze that's to be worn by every miss.

The gauze will keep the microbes from the spreading of a grim disease.

For kissing microbes, so they say, will sting a fellow just like bees.

Though I have lived a lot, I've got to see the feller, old or young.

Who wouldn't just as soon be stung.

Then old professors don't seem able to give other folks a rest.

They're always thinking up some scheme to knock Dan Cupid galley west.

Why don't they tend to their own business, dopin' grammar out, and leave love alone?

Instead of spoiling all our fun by boosting their new kissing gauze?

If my Irene, the village queen, does mix up microbes with romance,

They won't sell me no kissing screen.

A good sport always takes a chance.

From the Hickeyville Clarion.

The gentleman who stole the clapper off the firebell, on our village engine house, is requested to return same to avoid trouble, as he is known.

Constable Extra Hand has been at work on the case for some time and he traced the stolen article to the kitchen of the Huttel Hickeyville where it is being used as a potato marker.

A feller came along to Hod Peters place the other day, wanting to buy a horse. He said to Hod: "Do you know where a feller kin buy a horse?"

Hod said: "Yes, I kin tell you where a feller kin buy a horse. Hank Tumms, a half mile down the road has got a horse to sell."

The feller then asked: "How do you know he has got a horse to sell?" and Hod said: "I know he has got a horse to sell because I sold it to him day before yesterday."

Ren Rinks, our station agent down to the railroad depot who resigned his job seven years ago is still waitin' for somebody to be sent to take his place.

He doesn't go away and leave the place for fear somebody might want to buy a ticket to go somewhere or that telegram might come for somebody and that would be taking a mean advantage of the railroad company.

Ren has forgot what he got mad at the company for, but he remembers that he was purty gol dinged mad and he ain't got over it yet. He expects to go into some other line of business as soon as he is relieved of his duties down to the railroad depot.

The Old Time Spring Hat.

Grandma used to wear a bonnet With but very little on it.

Not a single peacock feather. Flopped or fluttered in the weather.

Five foot brims were not in order, Nor the hanging curtain border.

Ostrich plumes that cost full twenty Were not then so very plenty.

Stuffed flamingoes, embalmed parrots.

Turnips, rutabagas, carrots, Grape and apple imitations.

Were not used as decorations: Grandma's hat did not disguise her.

You could always recognize her: So we dedicate this sonnet.

To the modest little bonnet. Each succeeding generation

Makes us love grandma's creation. Women's hats keep growing bigger, And they cut more of a tigger.

Loved ones faces, all concealing, Not an eye or nose revealing.

When he mistakes his lady To some strange, offending lady.

And she glares until to him it seems to be about the limit.

Wife's new hat has too much on it, Ah! for that old grandma bonnet.

BOND LICENSE FEES

SUPPORT COMMISSION

Entire Expense of Regulating Railroads in State Defrayed by Stock and Bond Law.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Madison, Wis., April 1.—Sufficient money is collected under the stock and bond law, when securities are authorized, to pay practically the entire expense of the regulation of railroads by the railroad commission.

This fact has been brought out by the discussion over the stock and bond bill, before the legislature.

Assemblyman Litra of Milwaukee has introduced a bill which repeals the section of the statute providing a fee for authorization of bond issues, and Assemblyman Smart of Milwaukee is the sponsor of a bill that would graduate the rates.

At the present time the railroad commission collects one dollar per thousand of bonds authorized. The total amount of fees collected by the commission for bond issues since July 8, 1911, when the present stock and bond law became effective, is $63,362.65.

Of this amount $43,086.30 was collected in the first year up to July 1, 1912. This amount is probably somewhat abnormal, however, because it includes $15,000 on account

DR. PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is free from alum and lime phosphates. Made from grape Cream of tartar and absolutely pure. Its use is a safeguard to health, for it actually aids digestion, and relieves from all anxiety as to the wholesomeness of the food.

On the other hand each attempted imposition of an alum baking powder upon the consumer is a covert attack upon the health of the family. Of course, no grocer would knowingly sell injurious food to his customers; but he has himself been deceived as to the true character of the cheap powders by their manufacturers.

Forewarned, and solicitous for the health of her family, the housewife will be influenced to a constant watchfulness and a stubborn resistance against the danger.

Baking Powders sold at a lower price than Dr. Price's are almost invariably made from alum, and therefore inferior, and prejudicial to health.

of the bonds of the Milwaukee, Sparta and Northwestern line. The $20,276.35 collected in the nine months since July 1 is probably more nearly an average and would indicate an annual figure of about $27,000.

The distribution of these fees among the different classes of public service corporations is interesting. About 70 per cent of the fees were contributed by the large interstate railroads. Of the other corporations contributing amounts over $1,000 each during the past twenty-one months, the Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light company has paid the largest amount, being $10,000 on three applications.

The Wisconsin Public Service company of Green Bay has paid $2,250 and the Wisconsin Railway, Light and Power company of La Crosse, $2,225. These three corporations together with the interstate railroads, have contributed 94 per cent of the total amount.

The corporations that have paid the other 6 per cent of the total have been forty in number, so that the average amount paid by them has been $90.82. It is understood that the bills will be recommended for indefinite postponement.

MUCH INTEREST IN TODAY'S ELECTIONS

CONTEST FOR COUNTY JUDGE PROMISES TO BE MOST EXCITING.

VOTE IS FAIRLY HEAVY

Signing of Law by Governor Gives New Official Term of Six Years Instead of Four as Formerly.

Taking it all in all, an off year, but few contests to bring out the vote, Janesville is casting a remarkably heavy vote today. The contest for the county judgeship is the cause apparently and much interest is expressed in the outcome.

It would be hard to pick the winner, but according to rumors heard it apparently lies between Cunningham and Fifield, with Burpee a close third. In some voting precincts, Fifield was quoted by election officials as being the favorite.

One feature of today's election, not hitherto considered, is the fact Governor McGovern signed the bill passed by the legislature which makes the term of the county judge today elected as six years instead of four as formerly. This was not anticipated by the candidates seeking the election and the change will be most welcome. The law as passed is as follows:

Section 1. Subsection 1 of section 2441 of the statutes and sections 2 and 3 of chapter 3 of the laws of 1907, relating to elections and terms of office of county judges.

The people of the State of Wisconsin represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Subsection 1 of section 2441 of the statutes is amended to read: "There shall be a general election of county judges in each county on the first Tuesday in April, 1913, and every six years thereafter. The term of office of county judge shall be six years, commencing on the first Monday in January after such election."

Section 2. Sections 2 and 3 of chapter 3 of the laws of 1907 are amended to read: (Chapter 3, laws of 1907.)

Section 2. The election of such additional county judges shall be held on the first Tuesday in April, 1915, and on the first Tuesday in April of each sixth year thereafter. Such election shall be held at the same time and place and under the charge of the same election officials as the elections of judges of other officers held on the same date.

(Chapter 3, laws of 1907.) Section 3. Such additional county judge shall hold his office for a term of six years from the first Monday of June next succeeding such first election.

Section 4. The nominations for the office of an additional county judge shall be made in like manner as are made under present laws having reference to county judges.

Section 5. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication.

Approved March 28, 1913.

THE VOTE at one o'clock was first ward 168, slightly behind the average vote. Second ward 152, fairly strong.

Third ward 235, very strong for an off year. Fourth ward 200, a good sized vote for an off year. Fifth ward 71, light, average vote at same time, ordinary elections 152.

Reports from Beloit indicate a fairly heavy vote, and the same condition is reported throughout the county.

TWO HOUSES THREATENED BY A SERIOUS GRASS FIRE

Blaze on Grounds of Old Hospital On Sutherland Avenue, Extinguished This Afternoon.

What proved to be a serious grass fire was put out by the fire department about two o'clock this afternoon at the grounds of the old Oaklawn hospital at 1005 Sutherland avenue. The origin of the fire is not known.

The fire started at about 10 o'clock and it had gained considerable headway before the firemen arrived at the scene. The yard was covered with a growth of weeds and furnished excellent kindling for the blaze. A broom brigade, headed by Chief Klien, and Mayor Fathers soon had the fire under control after it burned the grass all around the house, threatening the two houses in the vicinity.

WITNESSED FLOODS WHEN ON WAY HOME

Stanley Yonce, Just Returned from Howe Military School, Saw Part of Inundated Country.

Stanley Yonce, who has just returned home from the Howe Military School at Fort Howe, Ind., to spend the spring vacation, passed through a portion of the inundated country while on his way here. He traveled on the Lake Shore railway and said that between the cities of Bristol and Elkhart, practically all of the country was under water. The carcasses of several horses and a large number of several kinds of birds were floating around. The rains that caused the floods started at four o'clock, Easter Sunday and continued incessantly until 9:30 o'clock Tuesday morning. Twenty-five windows in the academy buildings were broken by the storm. Nearly a hundred students whose homes were in the southern part of the state were unable to get home because of the rain. No mail was received for three days and great uneasiness prevailed among the boys whose families were in the flood swept country. Pennsylvania Railway trains had to run over the Lake Shore tracks to enter Chicago. Fort Howe is about twenty miles from the point where the Maumee reservoir burst and was not directly affected by the high water.

GEN. S. B. BUCKNER NINETY YEARS TODAY

Has Distinction of Being Only Remaining Corps Commander on the Confederate Side.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Munfordville, Ky., April 1.—With a number of relatives and intimate friends as his guests Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner today celebrated his ninetyeth birthday anniversary at Glen Lily, his celebrated country home on the Green river, about eight miles from this place. Gen. Buckner has the distinction of being the only remaining corps commander on the Confederate side. He graduated from West Point in 1844 and saw active service in the war with Mexico. In the early part of the civil war, after he had surrendered Forts Henry and Donelson to Gen. Grant, Gen. Buckner was taken prisoner and sent to Fort Warren. In 1863 he was exchanged and placed in command of a division in Hardee's corps, in Bragg's army. He was made a major general and distinguished himself at Murfreesboro and Chickamauga. In 1867 Gen. Buckner was elected governor of Kentucky and in 1896 he was candidate for vice president of the United States on the ticket headed by Gen. John M. Palmer of Illinois.

Policemen in Silk Hats.

Savona, Italy, is probably the only town in the world where policemen wear top hats. One cannot help wondering what the policemen's "toppers" look like after the officers have had a rough and tumble with hooligans. Perhaps, however, Savona lives up to the level of respectability indicated by the silk hats and does not possess hooligans.—Wide World Magazine.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

ANOTHER G. K. W.

HE optimism of the average person about some things is as astonishing as his pessimism about others.

The cheerful blindness with which most people make up their budget without allowing for those unexpected contingencies which always happen—except when you are looking for them, as the Irishman said—is a grand lesson on the wrong kind of optimism.

The other night I heard two young people discussing the project of buying a two-family house, renting one-half and living in the other. The plan of action was that they should pay a small amount down and take a large mortgage. The wife was the ardent one in the scheme. She had it all figured out that it would cost them less than they now paid for an undesirable suite. She had it all down in black and white; what the interest on the mortgage would be; what the taxes would be; (agent's figures), and what the rent of the other half of the house would bring in (agent's figures again). It sounded most plausible, but as her husband promptly pointed out, she had made no allowance for the chance that the other half of the house might not be rented all the time, none for deterioration and none for the lost interest on the small sum of money they would actually invest in the house.

You see, she was one of those hopeless optimists in regard to money matters.

It is the same kind of optimism which makes us allow too little for incidentals when we are making up our budget for any scheme. Why it is we always come home from our summer vacation without a cent? Nine times out of ten it isn't because we paid more than we expected for board or fare, or any of the other big things. It's just because that wicked old money-eater "incidentals" gobbled up more than we allowed for.

I fancy it's another phase of the same optimism which makes most of us cheerfully drop the decimals from a price figure, and think of $4.98 as $4 instead of $5, which it actually approximates.

You remember the lady who, in making up her expense account, charged all the money which she could not itemize to "G. K. W." meaning "Goodness Knows What." A still more helpful arrangement for most of us would be to have a G. K. W. column in our budget of probable expenses. We should allow as large a sum as we think we can possibly need for incidentals and then add half as much again. It wouldn't do any harm you know if there should happen to be some left over, but there isn't much danger.

for appropriate decorations? (2) Please suggest a few games that could be played. (3) What refreshments could I serve? (4) Is it wrong to play kissing games at such occasions?

BLUE EYES.

(1) Decorate with gauze streamers in tones of violet and green. Have violets for the flowers, and all the fresh green decorations you can get this time of year. Favors of tiny bouquets of violets would be pretty; furnish a big pin with each so it can be worn. When serving refreshments use the Dennison paper napkins and glasses decorated with violets.

(2) Try some of the old-fashioned games—Pussy-in-the-Corner, Drop-the-Handkerchief, London Bridge, Jerusalem, Barber Shop, etc. (3) Dainty sandwiches, fruit, punch, small cakes with fancy icing, salted peanuts and candied violets. (4) They are never in good taste.

The KITCHEN CABINET

I WOULD be true, for there are those who trust me; I would be pure, for there are those who care; I would be strong, for there is much to suffer; I would be brave, for there is much to dare.

SOME LUNCHEON DISHES.

One may serve luncheon dishes often for dinner or supper without little change in the menu.

Breslau Beef.—Put lean beef steak through a meat chopper, season with minced onion, pepper and salt, and one large soda cracker rolled fine. Shape an inch thick in a greased pan and place thin slices of bacon on the meat after it has been baked a few moments. Serve when the bacon is crisp and brown.

Mashed Dried Lima Beans.—Soak the beans over night, and the next morning drain thoroughly and place in a kettle with sufficient water to cover; add a teaspoonful of soda, and when boiling, cover again with cold water; add salt and cook until the beans are tender. Drain the water and leave for a soup foundation. Put the beans through a sieve and whip with a fork, season with a little cream and butter, a dash of red pepper. Heap in a hot dish and serve.

In baking beans, those who do not like pork may substitute olive oil, which adds the necessary fat in an acceptable manner.

Pear Pie.—Line a baked shell with quartered pears, add a bit of lemon juice and a sprinkling of the grated rind; cover with whipped cream and serve as any pastry.

Oatmeal Bread.—Take two cups of fine oatmeal, two cups of boiling water, two cups of bread sponge, two tablespoonfuls of butter, half a cup of molasses, a cup of raisins and half a cup of nut meats. Knead and let rise in loaves. Put into greased pans, and when risen bake in a moderate oven.

Trade Terms.

Little that is humorous attends the purchase of coal; yet one Cleveland man found at a coal yard in that city an individual who managed to infuse a degree of facetiousness into such a transaction.

"How much is stove coal?" asked the prospective purchaser.

"That depends," said the salesman. "A la carte, it's seven and a half. Cul-de-sac, it will cost you 50 cents extra."—Lippincott's.

And Yet the Dance Halls Thrive.

Young Man (approaching a girl)—"Er—may I have this one?" Oh, you're too kind. You don't mind if I hum, do you? Do you know, I'm just dippy over this here dip. Tee-hee, joke. Floor's swell tonight, ain't it? Gee, but I like to dance with you! Tell that to every girl? Not on your life! Seems as if I must have met you somewhere before. Wish I had, though. Well, I'll be; that's all. Short and sweet, yep—just like you. Tee-hee. See you later."

Discipline should start with a child at birth, but punishment, as popularly understood and administered, should be delayed until the will power of the child is fairly developed

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Pie Fillings. Filling for cream pie. Half cup sugar, two rounded tablespoons flour, pinch salt; mix well together. add half pint milk and boil two minutes. Flavor with any flavoring desired.

For banana pie, add two sliced bananas to the above cream.

For raisin pie, add half cup seed raisins and boil with the cream.

For chocolate pie, add two teaspoons cocoa; mix well with sugar and flour.

Mix half cup grated coconut and a fine coconut pie will be the result. Apple custard, add one egg yolk to the cream and, when cold, beat the white of one egg stiff, add half cup sugar and one large grated apple; spread over top, delicious.

The Housewife. To keep dirt from coming up through hot air registers in the floor, take square piece of cheesecloth and double it. Lift the register from the floor, turn it upside down, fasten the cloth to the bottom with a cord so as to allow the cloth to hang loose, place it back in the floor and the results will be wonderful. Clean my register every sweeping day.

Window Cleaning.—I find this quite a little help this time of year. Take a cloth, moisten it with gasoline and go over the window, then rub good with dry cloth; it makes the clearest window, takes grease and all dirt off and doesn't take much gasoline.

For the Kiddies. Group—When baby gets croupy give the little one a few drops of plain coal oil on sugar; for severe cases a half, or more, teaspoonful of the clear oil. It will not hurt them, and I know of a case where this simple remedy saved a child's life when the doctor said he could do nothing for it.

For a Cold.—Cut fine one or several onions in a bowl, place sugar and a little butter on sauce and put in warming closet of stove or any warm place, let stand one hour, then let child sip from spoon slowly. This is not offensive, and is even liked by most little ones.

The Table. Good Economical Savory Dish—Peel and wash about eight potatoes (according to amount wanted). Peel about three onions and alternately cut in slices the potatoes, then the onions, into large baking dish. Sprinkle with a little powdered sage and salt and pepper. Put on top of this pork chops (as many as you can), then add enough water to keep from burning; bake 1 1/2 hours. This is a fine dish, as the chops give the vegetables such a nice, meaty taste. Be sure you try it.

A New Marriage Certificate

AN effort has been on foot for some time in several states, to make a health certificate one of the necessary legal requirements of marriage. An impetus was given to the movement lately by the action of some of the ministers of one of the large cities of Pennsylvania.

At one of their regular association meetings, the ministers of a certain denomination decided they would marry no one who did not present a health certificate. And furthermore, they passed a resolution asking the other ministers of the city to join with them in the stand taken.

It is a patent fact today that such action is wise and in the line of progress, and works no hardship to those fit to marry. It only prevents marriage when for the good of all humanity it should be prevented. And this being the case, it is strange that it is so difficult to get for such a measure, the endorsement it should have.

But there is one movement striding rapidly toward success in this country, which, when it reaches its goal, will probably put on the statute book a law requiring a health certificate for marriage. And this movement is suffrage.

Women are usually the worst sufferers by the mating of the unfit. But at present, they have no voice in remedying the condition from which they suffer. Up to within recent years, men have been making the laws, and though all right-minded and thinking men know such a law would be beneficial, either they are in the minority or have not given the matter serious thought, for the law has not been passed.

But when woman gets the ballot, this and other matters vital to her and her children's health and happiness will not be overlooked.

And so with the success of suffrage, we may look for more stringent regulations of marriage. And this, as all right-minded people must concede, will be for the bettering of the human race.

TALKS WITH MOTHERS

(By Gertrude Stevens Ayres.)

Discipline. Discipline as understood by the average mother is not only useless but detrimental to the child.

Punishment Considered as Vengeance. Too many times the children come to look on punishment as vengeance. If the mother could only put herself in the child's place for a little time, (and it can be done to a certain degree by intelligent, sympathetic observation) she would realize how the slapping hands often come to mean to the developing brain only unreasonable caprice on the part of parent or guardian.

"Naughty" as Understood by the Child. As the child grows older the impulse to act, or should be the natural result of the varied impressions made on the baby mind by the many interesting things he finds all around him. If a child has been frequently punished for a certain act, the impulse is gradually accepted, not by the question of right or wrong, but by the thought of "being caught." Naughtiness comes to mean detection, not the overt act itself.

Discipline versus Punishment. Discipline should start with a child at birth, but punishment, as popularly understood and administered, should be delayed until the will power of the child is fairly developed and he comprehends to some degree the dominant influence of his own volition on his own life.

To have a healthy child understand during the first few weeks of life that crying for food between feedings is useless is discipline. In this denial and similar ones, known to "educated" nurses and trained mothers, the little one soon learns that it cannot have its own way.

Discipline Should be Sane and Constant. Oh, what constant watching a mother has to give herself to persevere in a kind, firm, consistent following of this principle of denial. To deny a child once and pamper him twice is like letting him stay at home from school two days out of three if he so desires. How much school education could you hope him to obtain by this method?

Discipline Should be Educational. All discipline should be educational. The root meaning of the word indicates this. Unless your child is learning self-government you would better take under consideration your methods, as applied to his particular temperament; for if he is not deficient, the fault lies with you.

Are your feelings and impulses under perfect control of your will? The child knows the fact although he cannot formulate it. If your actions are the result of irritability or anger, too often the child is punished when patience is exhausted, and this is not discipline.

If you, at any time, for any cause, however great, feel anger getting the best of judgment, leave your child at once, until you have yourself under perfect control. Better not discipline him at all than correct or coerce in anger.

Retaliating on the Baby. "Johnny, did you make the baby cry?" "Yes, I did. I asked him sumfin, an he wouldn't say 'Yes, sir,' so I gave him a lesson in politeness, just like you give me. I slapped him."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Memory Gems for Children. Children learn readily of right thinking and right doing through anecdotes and memory gems. We cannot give them too many memory gems, provided they are suited to their age and intelligence. Every thought will not affect every child, but every thought will affect some child. Robert Louis Stevenson said he was brought up on poetry and stories, and these poems and stories were the source of his later inspiration.

New Way to Make Apple Dumplings

Served With Hard Sauce or Cream and Sugar

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine.

Here is a new way to make apple dumplings that will surely please every housewife, for it is not necessary to have whole apples, and the juice cannot run out and burn as with apple dumplings where the apple is placed in the center and the dough turned up around it. The biscuit part forms a crispy shell that holds the apples and juice.

K C Apple Dumplings. One and one-half cups sifted flour; 1/4 teaspoonful salt; 3 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; 1/4 cup shortening; about 1/2 cup milk; apples.

Fill the cups of a buttered muffin pan with pared and sliced apples, sprinkle with salt and turn two or three tablespoonfuls of water into each cup. Sift together, three times, the flour, salt and baking powder; work in the shortening, and mix to a soft dough with the milk. Drop the dough from a spoon with the apples in the cups, giving it a smooth exterior. Let bake about twenty-five minutes. Invert the pan on a large serving dish. Put a spoonful of hard sauce above the apple in each dumpling and finish with a grating of nutmeg.

This is only one of the many new, delicious and appetizing recipes contained in the K C Cook's Book, which may be obtained free by sending the colored certificate attached to every 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder to the J. A. O. Co., Chicago. Be sure to get the 25-cent can; smaller cans do not contain Cook's Book certificates.

Housewives: Make this simple test!

Get a can of Rona Dutch Cocoa from your grocer's. Compare it with domestic cocoa this way: Use only one-half a teaspoonful of Rona Cocoa to the cup while you use a teaspoonful of the other. Use only half as much sugar to the cup of Rona. Then add boiling water. Now compare the rich, chocolate flavor of Rona Dutch Cocoa with the color and taste of the domestic cocoa. That's the test that proves the superiority of

VAN HOUTEN'S RONA DUTCH COCOA

You'll find that Rona Dutch Cocoa dissolves instantly—that it has no sediment. That's because of the Dutch process. You'll also find it smoother, richer, finer. And the cup is much sweeter you use only one-half a teaspoonful to the cup. A 2c can makes 64 cups.

Get Rona today at your grocer's. Make this test, madam, just to convince yourself that Rona Dutch Cocoa has a richer, finer chocolate flavor. Two sizes—10c and 25c.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

BY MRS. LURADINE THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young married woman of 20, have been married two years. We have had one baby, but it only lived a few weeks. My husband is as good to me as any man could be. He says he would gladly give his life for me, but my heart does not respond as it should. I am not satisfied with my home. How can I learn to love my husband as I should? How can I become satisfied with my home? DOLORES.

Go down into the slum and see how women must live who haven't good homes and good husbands. Go to a big city and visit the sweat shops, where women and tiny children slave 18 to 24 hours a day to get enough to eat. Go to the police court and the divorce court and listen to the stories told by women who have cause to be unhappy and miserable.

Then go home and get on your knees and thank God that He has been so kind to you. Tell Him that never again will you think only of yourself but that you will no longer be selfish and will try to make others happy. You'll never be happy or contented my dear, when you think only of your own happiness. You will find happiness only in what you can do for others.

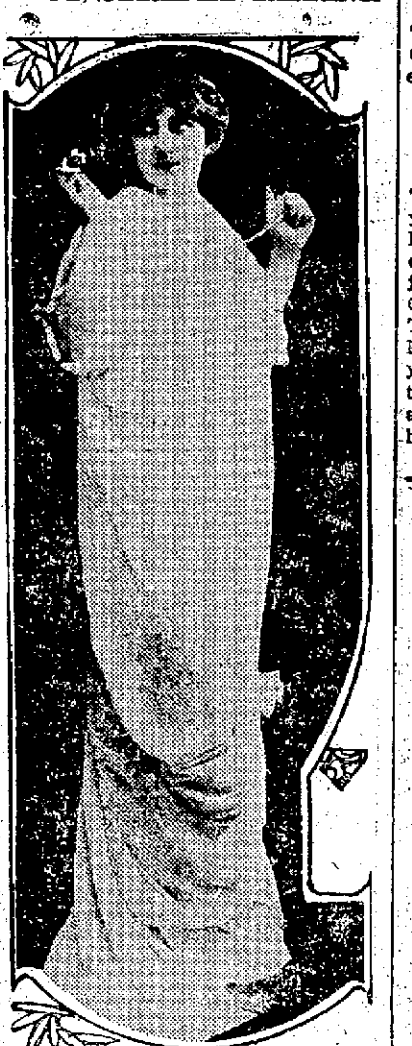

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I was engaged to a young man of 25. I am 20. I have broken the engagement. Should I keep the ring until he calls for it or shall I send it back to him? (2) He is a nice boy and had no bad habits of any kind, but he let on as he had so much and I have found out it was not so. Do you think I did right to break the engagement? I have a nice home with my folks and I didn't care to humiliate myself to a position or place which he might make. We have gone together off and on for about a year and a half and I stayed at home waiting and looking for him when he thought he could come; and didn't come either. But he had quite a ways to come. He worked all last summer and part of last winter, but I guess he is not such a worker or he surely would have had some income. He has nothing much now. So I didn't think it was right for me to wait on him another summer, as I am not in any hurry myself. DOUBTFUL.

(1) Send it back to him at once. (2) It is hardly wise to waste your time on a man who doesn't try to save for the future when he is engaged to be married.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I want to entertain at a party in the beginning of April and would like to know what colors and novelties I could use

Clean your sinks with GOLD DUST

No place in the home gathers grease as quickly as the kitchen sink. Gold Dust washing powder, however, has the peculiar quality of dissolving and cutting grease and if, after each dishwashing, a suds is made in the dishpan with warm water and Gold Dust, and the sink thoroughly rinsed with these suds, the last particle of dirt and grease will be removed.

The sink pipe will never become clogged with grease if Gold Dust and plenty of hot water are used for washing the sink morning and evening.

Gold Dust is sold in 50 size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

BOWELS BAD, LIVER TORPID? CASCARETS

Constipated, Bilious, Headachy, Stomach Sour, Get a 10-cent Box of Cascarets—Take one Tonight

You men and women who can't get going right—who have headache, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath, who are nervous, who can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel worn out. Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important. Cascarets work while you sleep; cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular and head clear for months. Don't forget the children. They love Cascarets because they taste good—do good—never gripe or sicken.

LONG STOCK COMPANY PLAY WELL RECEIVED

"My Boy Jack" Pleased Good Sized Audience at Myers Theatre Last Evening—Three Nights More.
Acting noticeably above the average stock company standard, the initial appearance at the Myers theatre this season of the Frank E. Long Stock Company in the melodrama "My Boy Jack," played last evening to a good sized audience whose pleasure was expressed in frequent laughter and applause. The play is a four act drama with well defined characters, simple in their nature, and as if the audience were not cognizant of their attributes and needed an advance tip, the playwright has dubbed one all meanness, another all sorrow, and others, all sunshine, a wise one, and a mean one. No chance was left for the spectator to go wrong. The play has a wide appeal for it has few or no puzzling situations. The playgoer derives no little satisfaction from being enabled to figure out the final outcome with a close approach to accuracy. Tonight the Long Stock Company will play "A Man of the People." Specialties are introduced between the acts.

Special Services.
The evening service at the Lutheran church consisted, in addition to the regular services, of songs and readings by the children, anthems by the choir, and solos. The children acquitted themselves beautifully, as was expected of them. In the ensemble singing the care and skill expended by Mr. Kvate on the training of the two choirs was noticeable. In the senior choir there are individuals whose voices at once attract the attention of our audience. Rev. Mr. Kvate delivered a straightforward exposition of the commandment, "Honor Thy Father and Thy Mother," for his sermon.

During the evening a letter from the committee in charge was read inviting the congregation and all interested to the welcoming reception to be accorded to Rev. Ivor Ramseth on Sunday next, April 6th, at the East Luther Valley church. Growing Children Need Good Bowels

Give a Mild Laxative Occasionally to Insure Regular Bowel Action.

As a child grows older it requires more and more personal attention from the mother, and as the functions of the bowels are of the utmost importance to health great attention should be paid to them.
Diet is of great importance, and the mother should watch the effect of certain foods. A food will constipate one and not another, and so we have a healthy food like eggs causing biliousness to thousands, and a wholesome fruit like bananas constipating many. It is also to be considered that the child is growing, and great changes are taking place in the young man or young woman. The system has not yet settled itself to its later routine.
A very valuable remedy at this stage, and one which every growing boy and girl should be given often, or occasionally according to the individual circumstances, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This is a laxative and tonic combined, so mild that it is given to little babies, and yet equally effective in the most robust constitution. At the first sign of a tendency to constipation give a small dose of Syrup Pepsin at night on retiring, and prompt action will follow in the morning. It not only acts on the stomach and bowels, but its tonic properties build up and strengthen the system generally. Mrs. Henry Babler, Van Dyne, Wis., writes that her little son, Melvin Babler, was constipated most of the time until she gave him Dr.

MELVIN BABLER
Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Since using this remedy he has never been constipated.
The use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will teach you to avoid cathartics, salts and pills as they are too harsh for the majority and their effect is only temporary. Syrup Pepsin brings permanent results, and it can be conveniently obtained of any nearby druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.
If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a postal note will do—to W. B. Caldwell, 417 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you.

WRITES VIVID STORY OF DAYTON DISASTER

Janesville Man Saw Effects of High Water in Down-Town Section of Afflicted City.

The following letter, written by a Janesville man, who was in Dayton at the time it was inundated by the recent flood, is a vivid account of the great disaster, showing how it affected the down-town section, the wholesale houses, hotels, and cafes.

Janesville Gazette, Janesville Wis.

Dear Sir:—

It is now ten p. m. The flood has lasted for 24 hours. On March 25 the water began to flood the city and by noon it was six feet deep on Third street and by night ten to twelve feet deep in front of our hotel, the Atlas. Without warning the water began coming down Jefferson and Main streets and everyone began to hurry to a place of safety. People dodged in anything that was higher than the street. Everything began to float down the streets, houses were washed off their feet and wagons were overturned.

The town was warned by a newspaper at six a. m. but the warning reached so few people that it was not generally known, and very few people had an opportunity to reach safety. Great blocks of pavement on Third street were torn up, many of them fifteen feet square. Flat glass store fronts were broken in by the force of the water, which rushed down the street with the fury of a mill race on a mad rampage. Everywhere was a hurry for safety. The water at 10:30 was several feet deep in the hotel lobby.

A report came that the walls in the rear of the hotel were washing out. Some ran through the guests began to climb the fire escapes to adjoining buildings. The rain was falling in torrents and after standing on the roofs until we were soaked, we realized that the building was not on fire and returned to the hotel. The water rose steadily all day and had not reached the crest at dark. The scenes on the street are something terrible. People are screaming and fighting against the flood, and have finally been forced to give up and drown. On Main street a large building occupied a cafe, a harness store, and a clock and suit house, collapsed, and many people lost their lives. At Third and St. Clair, streets another building fell (four stories). Every business house is practically wiped out.

At noon the 26th fire broke out in the Schaur Disseleng Company at 32d and St. Clair street, and building after building went down as a result of the terrible fire that wiped out three or more blocks of the downtown district. All night long the guests at the Atlas Hotel were in fear of it going down, but the morning of March 27 dawned with the hotel untouched. At three o'clock Wednesday afternoon the waters began to recede and fell rapidly until about midnight. It had fallen two feet. The 27th of March will remain in the minds of those in Dayton at time as we had fire, rain, flood, snow, cold weather, which is unusual for this time of year. Neither fire in their homes, nor food nor water for sustenance.

At one time six automobiles were seen floating and tumbling in the mad waters. Pianos, furniture, whole stocks of goods were floating. Every thing of every description was floating. The livery men turned their horses loose to fight for their lives and hundreds of them drowned and have floated into buildings and streets.

Guests of the Atlas Hotel were driven into the second story of the hotel at seven a. m. March 25. It was not until Thursday afternoon at three o'clock, when we were relieved by the boat from the Y. M. C. A. which brought twenty-seven cans of sardines and three loaves of bread for our seventy-five people. Soon after the state troops began to come in. By Friday morning, at ten o'clock, the water had gone down so people could walk on the sidewalks.

The loss cannot be estimated now. The loss of life, some say, will be 1000 people.

The man of the hour was John M. Patterson of the National Cash Register firm. He had his men at the factory build 150 boats to be used in taking people from their homes to places of safety. Friday, March 28, John M. Patterson gave an order to feed the hungry and he would settle the bill. John M. Patterson contributed over $250,000 in cash to Dayton sufferers. John D. Rockefeller sent his check for $500.

Janesville, Wisconsin, may be slow, but thank God it's safe, and my thoughts frequently flew to Janesville, Wis., during those 72 hours of flood, fire and snow.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES

THE SPRING BONNET.

(By Howard L. Rann.)

THE spring bonnet is a piece of feminine finery which pulls $22 out of husband's salary in March and shrinks to $5.48 by the last of April. However, if a husband should suggest to his wife that she wait until after Easter before buying her spring hat, and thus advantage of a falling market, he would be called several kinds of brute in the presence of the entire family.

The spring bonnet is usually sprung on the first day when a woman can wear it down town without having it ornamented with icicles. A man will wear his winetr hat into August and shed it about the same time he does his flannels, but he woman who is caught making an afternoon call after March 1st in the same hat she wore on the 28th of February is viewed with suspicion by all right-thinking people.

This has caused the spring bonnet to break into the store windows in plenty of time to induce father to change his mind about buying an automobile.

Spring bonnets are sold on a very narrow margin of profit, seldom ranging over 900 per cent. The most popular 1913 model consists of a tea-spoonful of velvet draped around 65 cents' worth of real straw, surmounted by a high-priced tailfeather from some French guinea hen. This kind of a bonnet retails at $40 when the show is on the ground, and can be worn for several days without being imitated by the hired girl, after which it is laid away in an old trunk and then bestowed upon the City Charity Circle.

No two spring bonnets are alike. This is especially true of the original creation known as the pattern hat, which is patterned after by everybody who had a chance to study it at close range on Easter Sunday. Nothing will embitter a placid, sweet-tempered woman more than to invest the price of a cook stove in a pattern hat.

We have the sales agency for the line of all-purpose varnish, which is so far ahead of any varnish that has ever been sold in this community that we particularly desire an early opportunity to show its good points to some member of every household in our business district.

What we want you to know about this wonderful varnish is something that cannot be told; but we can show you in a very few minutes that you get more for your money every time by using Chi-Namel Varnish for floors, woodwork, furniture, or anything about the house on which Varnish is used.

This varnish is furnished in the natural color and also in a full variety of colors. It can be hammered and boiled without showing any signs of abuse. Any amateur can apply it to large surfaces and get just as smooth a finish as a professional finisher—no laps, no brush marks, no blotches to make a patchy appearance.

You will thank us for this invitation after you have come to know all about it.

Other features we want to show you are the Chi-Namel Ready-to-Use Graining Process, by which you can cover all blemishes in your old floors and make them any color you wish, and also produce the grain of oak or other woods.

Old carpets can be made into rugs and a new hardwood border will take the place of the ugly flooring at a cost of but 2c per square foot.

We will gladly explain all these features at our stores if you give us the opportunity.

FIGHT TO SAVE DAM AT MONTEREY FROM BEING CARRIED OUT

Endangered By Sapping of Wall—
Loss of Stone Dumped Into Stream to Safeguard Structure.

From fifteen to twenty men and from four to six teams worked most of the day hauling and dumping stone to protect the Monterey dam, which was placed in danger by the sapping of the stone pier at the junction of the dam and the city bridge, underneath the center avenue bridge.

The manner in which the dam was endangered was discovered by Superintendent of Streets, C. K. Millmore, at about seven o'clock this morning. It was evident that the pier was being rapidly cut away and undermined for huge stones had been loosened and hung over the water. A few more hours would have sufficed to cut away the entire pier and open a large breach that would result in the quick destruction of the dam. The central pier of the city bridge stands close to the pier between the two dams, and had the latter been carried away, it too would have been undermined in a very short time.

No time was lost in securing men and horses to haul stone from the ruins of the old cotton mill near the Monterey power house, and nearly all those in the service of the street department were pressed into immediate service. The stone was hauled to the bridge at a point just over the pier, dumped, and then distributed along the edge that was being cut away.

The height of the river continues to be abnormal, showing no noticeable change since yesterday. The raceway below the Monterey dam is filled nearly to the brim and would overflow and cut its banks if the river raised a few inches more. The part of the dam now in danger has given trouble before, and a washout at that point caused the bridge pier to settle somewhat. It is believed that all danger of a breach being formed will be past by tonight. The Rock River Woolen Mills and the Janesville Electric Company, both of whom derive power from the Monterey dam, are co-operating with the city to prevent its being damaged or carried away.

The next night he kept blowing them all the way out, but that, too, failed to work.

"I am sorry," she told him, "but I fear you are not the man my former husband is."

"Leave it to me," he retorted, gritting his teeth till they turned red.

Two months later, he stepped off the gangplank of a transatlantic liner onto French soil and took a train for Zeezee, near Paris, where detectives had informed him they had located the former husband. The two men shook hands.

"Well," said the former husband finally, "I wish you luck and all that sort of thing, but I can't tell you my hard-earned secret free of charge."

"I will give you $1,234.43 for the information!" cried the other.

"Done!" said the former husband. "You know that iron pipe that runs along the side of the train to heat it? Well, you just lay the box of matches on that!"

EMPLOYEES' MAGAZINE OUT
FIRST OF NEXT MONTH

First copies of the "Employees' Magazine" which the Saint Paul Company has recently decided to publish for the benefit of the working men will be ready the early part of April. Numerous railroads throughout the country publish magazines for their employees but this is the first time that the Saint Paul has attempted it. Every workman is asked to contribute something in the line of literature or photographs of something that will be of interest to the railroad men. Special stress is laid on articles on "Safety First" and it is intended to make the publication a combination of family magazine and a newspaper. Certain parts will be set aside for strictly local news on each division. The object of publishing the magazine is to develop a closer fellowship and bring more co-operation among the officials and the laboring men. It will furnish a new and better method of getting new ideas before all parties of the railroad and every man and class of labor will be given equal chance to voice his opinion on matters pertaining to their interest.

The story of the play in brief is as follows: "Broadway" Jones is a young spendthrift who is about to be married to a wealthy widow's daughter by no means to his liking, but it is more or less a matter of necessity. Just before the time set for the ceremony Jones becomes heir to a chewing gum factory, and manages to avoid the marriage. Of course there is the "one girl." Heart to Heart Talks

By JAMES A. EDGERTON

A SINGER OF THE SUNLAND.

Could I but teach men to believe,
Could I but make small men to grow,
About their fears and their low;
Could I but sing one song and lay
Grim doubt; I then could go my way
In tranquil silence, glad, serene
And satisfied, from out the scene.

From Joaquin Miller's "Last Poem."

He was christened Cinquatus Helne Miller, but the muse rechristened him with the more poetical Joaquin Miller.

He was ruggedly American in his every fiber, yet won his first recognition in England.

He loved nature and was never so happy as in his gardens, where he was surrounded by a wealth of flowers. He was a friend of the trees. The birds trusted him and came flocking at his whistled call.

He had a supreme faith, and it was this spiritual quality that shone out of his poems and made appeal to the hearts of men.

While he spent most of his life on the rough frontier, his soul was gentle. While eccentric and almost uncouth on the exterior, his heart and brain had the fine culture of great thoughts and deep communion with the soul of things. While he cared little for ecclesiastic forms, his every thought and aspiration was intensely religious.

In an age when every minstrel was trying for bizarre effects and novel combinations of words, supposed to conceal thought he sang simply in words easily understood and concerning things that enter into the lives of all.

His songs won their way because he sang of the things he knew. His verses have the sweep of western winds. They are full of the trees and flowers, of mountain, desert and sea; they breathe the life of the pioneer; they are rugged and gentle by turn; they hold a robust sentiment, and they are touched by the humanities.

Joaquin Miller built himself a cabin on a mountain peak, from which he might look out at once on mountain and fruitful valley, on the city and on the ocean. Here among his gardens his life drew to its sunny close. Picturesque to the last, he willed that his body be burned at a high funeral pyre and the ashes be left to blow out to sea.

His last cry echoed that of other great poets and seers, since the world began:

"Could I but teach men to believe!"

If men were taught really to believe this would be a transformed world.

For Sixteen Years. Restored

Compound.

Moretown, Vermont.—"I was troubled with pains and irregularities for sixteen years, and was thin, weak and nervous. When I would lie down it would seem as if I was going right down out of sight into some dark hole, and the window curtains had faces that would peek out at me, and when I was out of doors it would seem as if something was going to happen. My blood was poor, my circulation was so bad I would be like a dead person at times. I had female weakness badly, my abdomen was sore and I had awful pains."

"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and used the Sanative Wash and they certainly did wonders for me. My troubles disappeared and I am able to work hard every day."—Mrs. W. F. SAWYER, River View Farm, Moretown, Vermont.

Another Case.
Gifford, Iowa.—"I was troubled with female weakness, also with displacement. I had very severe and steady headache, also pain in back and was very thin and tired all the time. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am cured of these troubles. I cannot praise your medicine too highly."—Mrs. IMA MILLER, Gifford, Iowa.

Why Spring Colds Are Dangerous

If Neglected They Lead to Serious, Perhaps Fatal Results.

If you get cold at this time of year and try to "let it wear off," it frequently develops into a stubborn lung trouble, which may in turn become chronic asthma, bronchitis or consumption. It is important to remember that Father John's Medicine cures colds because of its nourishing body-building elements, which give strength to the system and enable each organ to resume its normal functions. Father John's Medicine is not a patent medicine, contains no injurious drugs, but is a pure food medicine, for those who are weak and run-down.

"Hurrah!" cried Bob, flustered out of all self-control. "Well, Sis, that's a big surprise you've sprung—and now, let's see what I can do in the same line. You have announced Madeline, maybe I can give you some information about her brother Kerchival."

Gertrude uttered a little cry and her hand trembled as she laid it impulsively upon her brother's shoulder.

"Yes," he continued, with sudden seriousness, "you know, Sheridan is bringing over a lot of people. He has the whole Sixth corps of the Army of the Potomac, under Major General Wright. I understand, besides a division of the Nineteenth corps, and I don't know how much of the Army of Western Virginia, with General Crook. Besides, they say he is especially strong in cavalry, under Torbert, with such brigadier-generals as Wilson and Merritt and Custer. Our General Early has got some re-enforcement from Long-street's corps and will try to make it interesting for Sheridan when he comes down Winchester way. Yes, girls, as I was saying, we expect to have rather a busy time."

Poor Bob said this in an offhand, flippant tone, but he was in an agony of apprehension lest he should be far away from Belle Bosquet when Madeline West arrived—if, indeed, she did safely reach that destination. His fears in regard to the first part of the proposition were quickly realized. The very next day he was ordered to join his regiment at Shepherdstown, on the Potomac, where the Federal army was starting its vigorous offensive campaign.

Madeline West, as gentle and loving as she was loyal and courageous, came to the valley on the first day of September, with the first mellow mists of gold on the Massanutten mountains. Her welcome at Belle Bosquet made the place seem strangely dear to her from the first moment she crossed its threshold.

The next day Jenny was seated outdoors under a cottonwood when black Josephus came clattering up on a mule. In half a minute the whole household were listening breathlessly to him:

"It's de Lor's truth! De Yankees have done driv de army out from Winchester!"

While they were talking an old mountaineer had slouched up to the gate, unobserved, though plainly enough to be seen. He stood a moment gazing about in aimless fashion, then quickly raised the flat stone cap on one of the brick pillars of the gateway, deposited something beneath it and moved on.

CHAPTER XII.

Strange Fortunes of War.

GERTRUDE excused herself, ran down to the gate, raised the stone and took a packet of letters from beneath it.

"My private postoffice," she whispered to Madeline. "Here is a line from Robert. You shall read it. Hello! and here is a dispatch for me to deliver—you know, dear, you are in Confederate country now, but that makes no difference between us, does it? And, what do you think? Here is a letter from Washington—from Mrs. Haverill and with a United States postmark. Fancy, Robert says it was in a mail bag which the Mosby guerrillas captured when they stopped a train!"

"What does she say?" asked Madeline eagerly.

"You shall hear. She says: 'My dear Gertrude—When Kerchival West was in Washington last week on his way from Chattanooga to serve under Sheridan in the Shenandoah valley he called upon me—I should hope so! Darling, he still!'"

"Loves you?" interjected Madeline. "Never mind that! I have kept your secret, Gertrude—oh, indeed—but I was sorely tempted to betray the confidence you placed in me at Charleston. If Kerchival West had heard you say as I did, when your face was hidden in my bosom that night, that—

"That you loved him with your whole heart?" ventured Madeline.

"Nonsense! H'm—I am certain that he still loves you as much as ever."

Here Jenny, who had been down the road making a reconnaissance, came galloping back on an imaginary charger.

"Do you hear that music?" she cried. "It's a military band playing 'John.' The boys are singing too. There's a Ta-ra-a-ta-ta—No. It's assembly of guard details. Well, what do you think of that? They are going into camp here. Say, girls, we'll have all the fun we want now! I wonder how I'll receive Captain Heartsease. He ought to be court-martialed for stealing my handkerchief—unless he's still got it with him."

As if at the call of his name, that punctilious officer, himself suddenly came into view. He was afoot, and by his side walked another in Confederate gray—none other, in fact, than Colonel Robert Ellingham.

"This way, colonel, if you'll permit me. Deucedly embarrassing, certainly, to— Ah, ah—Miss Buckthorn!" Here the captain adjusted his eyeglasses and stood as stock still as the gatepost.

"Well, Captain Heartsease, I suppose the unexpected sight of me has paralyzed you."

"That expresses the situation accurately, Miss Buckthorn," replied the automaton with perfect composure.

"Why, Colonel Ellingham!" the young lady exclaimed, suddenly recognizing the other officer. "Tell me, quick, Heartsease, which of you two is prisoner to the other?"

"I am the prisoner, Miss Buckthorn," said Ellingham, saluting smilingly. "I didn't get out of Winchester quickly enough this time, so they gathered me in. But Major Williams has kindly accepted my parole, and I have been permitted to show Captain Heartsease the way to conduct me here, as—"

He peered anxiously in the direction of the veranda, whence a graceful figure now emerged and ran eagerly toward him.

"Madeline!"

"Robert!"

They clasped hands, both hands together—and stood gazing into each other's eyes in rapt silence, oblivious of all around.

"Do you see that, Captain Heartsease?" demanded Jenny, Buckthorn. "By the way, is Major Williams in command of the regiment? I thought—"

"Colonel West is to join us at this point. He should arrive shortly. You see, another division of the Nineteenth corps, under General Haverill, has been sent to reinforce Sheridan. Pardon my mentioning such uninteresting details at a moment when—aw—the fact is, Miss Buckthorn, the excitement of this unexpected meeting has so completely upset me that—"

"Oh, bother! Come along out of this, and I'll show you how the land lies hereabouts."

They marched off to the sent under the big cottonwood tree, while Ellingham and Madeline West found their way back to the veranda.

A little later a Federal guard marched up the road, and a sentry was duly posted at the gate. The first person to receive this sentry's salute upon passing was Colonel Kerchival West. He came alone, carrying a letter or dispatch in his hand and looking about eagerly, as if he expected somebody to recognize him.

Captain Heartsease advanced briskly to meet him, having duly obtained leave of absence from Miss Buckthorn.

"Colonel West?" he said.

"Captain" was the formal response. "You have rejoined the regiment earlier than we expected!"

Yes, General Haverill sends me word that he will meet me here at 7 o'clock. In the meantime, Major Williams tells me that some of your company captured Colonel Robert Ellingham at Winchester."

"He is here under parole. Lives here, by Jove, when he is at home. Odd circumstances."

"So, this is the old Ellingham home-stead!" mused Kerchival, walking aside a bit, in ill-restrained restlessness.

Where was Gertrude? How would she receive him? How would Bob receive him under the circumstances?

"By the bye, Captain Heartsease," he said, in a sufficiently matter-of-fact tone, "a young lieutenant named Bedloe, I believe, has joined your troop. What do you know of him?"

"What are your views on the great public problems?" "I haven't any views, on public problems," replied the man whose interests are under investigation. "I'm one of them myself."

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, April 1, 1873.—April Foolishness. We mean no reference to the election now in progress though this morning's sur brought us the traditional election day in all its boasted unpleasantness. The wayward month greets us with a furious storm of snow instead of smiles and balmy breath and kindly showers. April's foolishness consists in its evident attempt to imitate predecessors—blustering March.

Eye Kicked Out. On Wednesday morning, Mr. Elbert Holmes, on the river road was severely injured by being kicked in the face by a horse while he was working in the stable.

He received a blow full on the left side of the face, breaking the jaw in two places, forcing the eye out of its socket and cutting the flesh. Dr. Johnson was called and their hopes the eye may be placed back into the socket without destroying the sight.

Election. The municipal election, in progress today, is passing off unusually quiet. The very disagreeable weather undoubtedly dampened the public ardor to some extent, though this is not the year for political excitement and it would be difficult to arouse much enthusiasm. The entire republican ticket will probably be elected.
